OUTLINE BEING ALTERED BY THE ARCHITECTS.

The old familiar outline of London is becoming broken and jagged. At a score of points there are disturbing gaps which affect one like the loss of a favourite chair from a room. Londoner who had returned after a year's absence abroad, complained that "they had been drawing the teeth of the City in order to make it look old and ugly."

With a pang he noted the disappearance of many a late Georgian and early Victorian building. In their places were uncomfortable voids ly better than that total for the suc- across which drifted a cloud of brickdust or a shred of old wall-paper.

SECOND MATCH.

The second match of the Interport contest between Hongkong, and Shanghai was played at the Chinese Recreation Club on Saturday afternoon. Owing to the late arrival of the "Novara," the single between Ng See Kwong and the Japanese, Tanaka, was not played, the only event being the scheduled single M. W. Lo v. W. S. A. Pott. There had been much speculation about this particular match in advance, and most held that Lo would have to produce his very best form in order to give the Shanghaiman a game. Lo's display on the previous Wednesday had not been brilliant, and the question before the armchair players was, whether the form he had shewn then could be sufficiently explained by the change of partners to give Hongkong the hope of seeing their reputation upheld.

As it turned out, Lo succeeded better than his most sanguine ad-Mr. O.A. Smith, who has been to mirers had dared to hope. He in the first set. soon made up his mind that he could, for he kept continually on the run and in a state of suspense as to the moment when Lo would try the forehand corner. The next two games went in this manner to Hongkong, making the score 3-1. Then Lo began to make double faults in profusion, and the supporters of Hongkong feared that he would throw away his lead.

The game extended to many deuces, and finally went to Shanghai, 3-2. Things took a turn for the better for Hongkong after this. Lo began managed to save the game after Lo had thus been within a point of set, and converted the score to 5-3 In the next game Lo was hitting hard at most balls and Pott was careful Exciting rallies ended in Lo gaining the game and set, the run of luck just favouring him and spoiling Pott's game.

Whether it can be said that luck was responsible for putting Pott off his game is a matter for dispute. The opinion as I heard it seemed to incline to the view that however many of Pott's shots were just out, yet it would have needed more than this factor to save the set for Shang-

With the score for the first sel reading 6-3, Lo was obviously feel ing confidence in himself, and Hongkong, though admitting the possib lity of his falling off from his present high standard, still believed that Pott would not manage to keep him down for three sets more.

is apt to leave the maker of it unwas no exception to the rule. Thus Lo made it 3-I. and both players gave a display of sustained brilliance which finally resulted in the game going to the Northerner. 'The score was then 3-2. This set was much more of a give-and-take affair than either of the others; and the result of it much more doubtful until the end. Lo made some more of his magni-

But Lo, showing a beautiful consistency, and his Pott won the toss, and elected to defence, still giving Pott more than take the road end. The first game went when the succeeding game was ; series of hard smashes by the Shanghai player Lo was not discomforted and yielded nothing which was not fully earned by Pott's superior play. Such consistency, I am assured by those who should be in a position to know, he has seldom approached before, and never kept up throughout the whole of a big match.

After this equalisation the spectators expected the same sort of give-and-take tennis as had been exhibited in the previous sets, but Lo struck a patch of rather more forceful tennis than shown heretofore, and score to 5-1, a game short of the match, before he was stopped. The third game was more or less a repetition of the first, with Lo hitting hard and Pott, favoured" neither by the increasing vulnerability of his backhand when Lo played upon quite unable to stop the rot. Especially in the matter of luck must we extend our sympathy to the visitor it seemed that nothing could go right for him, as ball after ball that might have fallen inside the lines went just beyond them. COTTON TRADE CRISIS."

London, November 11th. At the meeting of the International Coston Committee, now being held in London, extensive reports from members show that the depression in the industry extends throughout the world and that the organised short-time motement is being extended.

The appointment of arbitrator, in dealing with disputes relating to yarms and cloth contracts is greatly appreciated, many disputes having been satisfactorily setiled.

U.S. SHIPPING BOARD.

Washington, November 10th Two ex-employer of the Shipping Board have reported to the Congressional Committee, which is investigating the operations of the Board, charging certain employes and officials of the arti with corruption, alleging, inter als. wait in purchasing chantmen, and the use of political and other influence in obtaining contracts for construction of ships and allegation of ships to operating empanies. They also allege gross waste of Government funds

NEW YORK, November 10th The United States is considerably interested in the revelations made before the Congressional Committee investigating the Mr. Richardon, Secretary, of the Committee, giving evidence said that the Roard's recorf; had been allocated to individuals and corporations lacking financial standing and maritime experience, while established steamship companies complained their inability to secure tennage from the Government.

ADRIATIC SETTLEMENT.

WASHINGTON, November 10th. The statement of a high state official that the question of the Adriatic settlement is likely to be relegated to the background Indicates that the State Department has begun to relax its attitude towards diplomatie problems in view of the impending change of administration which, however, will not affect the Japanese and Californian negotiations which are now searing com-

LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

LONDON, November 11th. Lord Selborne, Viscount Grey, ex-Foreign Secretary, and Mr. Barnes have based a memorandum seclaring that " the peace of the world will be best secured by the admission of all States into the League of Nations. The matter must be brought before the Assembly at Geneva. The longer the ex-enemy nations are excluded the more difficult it will be for the League to fulfit the purpose for which is was created. The recent figancial conference has shown that the economic problems of Europe dely national boundaries and it would have been a failure without the presence of the representatives of the exenemy States. We believe, at the same time, that it is true of the political affairs of Europe. We press this not for the sake of Germany but for the sake of Europe."

OUTLOOK IN STRIA.

Paris, November 11th. A Havas message says:-General Gourand, the French High Commissioner in Syria, has arrived in Paris for the purpose of examining with the Government various measures for the speedy re-organization of the economic life of Syria, Cilicia and Lebanos.

In an interview with a Le Matin corres. pondent, General Gourand stated that the above countries offer immense possibilities for agriculture, cattle-raising and cotton-

It is authoritatively stated that the 1921 Imperial Conference will be a business meet. ing on the Ines of the urgent problems of common Imperial interest. It is not proposed as has been suggested in some quarters to hold in 1921 a special conference to deal with the Empire Constitution as contemplated by the Conference's resolution in 1917, it being widely thought that public opinion had not had sufficient time to grasp. the significance of the changes in the internal and external relations of the Empire resulting from the War.

IMPERIAL EXCHANGE PROBLEM.

LONDON, November 19th. Colonel Amery, speaking at a luncheon given by the Anti-Double Income Tax Association, pointed out that Imperial Preference need not necessarily be limited to tariffs; it might apply to every form of trade, commerce, shipping and belegraphs. He desired to see a system which would free us from the difficulties of the exchange problem within the Empire and not make it more difficult to regulate exchanges between India and Canada or Australia and South Africa than it was at present between Fremantle and Sydney or Halifax and

The weather was ideal for day at Fanling. The course was hard as is usual at this time of the year and the greens were very flery; but remarkably true. Putting at this time of the year in Hongkong is an art and many matches are won and lost by faulty play in this department. the four players on view on Sunday Morgan impressed me most, and he really threw away his chances of winming by rank bad putting. His partner on the other hand excelled on the (21); G. S. Archbutt and L. S. green and with the help of a slice o Greenhill (16) v. Major Bagnall and buck pulled off the game. THE PLAY.

MORGAN.

Wodehouse started off from the first tie and got a beautiful low carrying shot. His opponent replied with an average tie-shot and then played a pretty mashie which ran over the left hand edge of the green. Wodehouse had a poor second but got well on with his third. Morgan chipped over the green with his third and then after putting too strongly misused an easy 2 foot put for a half in 5.-At the second hole Wodehouse's drive was very short and in trying to carry the bunker with his brassie he got in and lovely drive, carried the bunker nicely with his cleek and found himself pin high but to the right of the green. He chipped on too strongly but laid his approach putt dead winning the hole in 5 to his opponents 6. At the short third both played very careful tee shors. Morgan was just on the near corner of the green and Wodehouse who tried to kick off the side of the hill stopped in the long grass on the edge of the green. Wodehouse duffed his second and Morgan had a very poor approach putt. Morgan lipped the hole for a 3 and with his opponent taking two putts a half in

4 was the result. At the fourth Wodehouse duffed hist drive the ball only travelling about 25 yards. He had a fair second and then ran on to the green nicely with his 4th being about 3 feet from the hole. 83 Morgan had a pretty drive and was 116 He laid his third within four feet of 143 the pin and the hole was morally his. It ought to have been an easy putt

The highest break (23 unfinished) for the hole; but not only did he miss it and run over, but he failed to get back for a half and threw away the hole in 6-5. This lapse seemed to worry Morgan at the next hole, where after a good drive he played his second to the left of the green and was very short with his approach. Wodehouse on the other hand played this hole perfectly. A pretty drive, a nice second with his jigger just on, a good approach purt and no mistake about the 3 foot putt necessary to give him a 4 to Morgan's 5. He was now 2 up and going well. At the long sixth Wodehouse met with a chapter of accidents. He hooked his drive into DE careful of the colds you take at the rough, got well out but found the rough on the other side of the fairway just below the Rest House, and his 3rd was still in the rough. Morgan has a nice tee-shot but ball kicked up above the topmost terrace and he had to play his second standing well below the ball. He got i nicely away however with his cleek and was almost on in 2. A nice run up and a good putt almost gave him a 4, in fact he lipped the hole; but a 5 was good enough to give him the hole, making Wodehouse 1 up.

At "the Bog" the pin was on the lower green and Wodehouse got nicely on. Morgan however was on the slope up to the upper green and played his second too strongly. Good putting gave Wodehouse the hole in 3-4 and made him again 2 up.

To ensure keeping straight at the Sth. Wodehouse took a driving iron off the tee and got a wonderful long ball. Morgan who is off his drive and who had been using a brassie on the tee, got too much underneath the ball and sent it into the rough to the left. With his second he got into the valley between the 8th and 9th fairways but lying well was able to pitch nicely on. Wodehouse ran up with an iron and had hard lines in just over-running the green. He was too strong in getting out, and putted short. Morgan lipped the hole with a 12 foot

MARSHAL FOCH'S TRIBUTE.

Paris, November 11th. Havas message describing the cereconv on the occasion of the placing of the coffin of Britain's unknown warrior on the British destrover Ferdus at Boulegne, says: Marshal Foch, in a ringing speech, bade the unknown British hero farewell in the name of France, stating that the exploits of the same of the British Empire throughout the Great War stand unparalleled in world history. The blood spilled together on so many battlefields sealed for ever friendship between the British and the French armies and nations.

General Macdonald in reply expressed King George's and the British Government's thanks for the honours paid to the British warrier, concluding that the grave will stand in Westminster Abbey as a toker of sinerre and profound amity between Great Britain and France

Loxbox, November 12th. The wonderful scenes which characterised vesternay's great pilgrimage to the Abbey and the Cenotaph are being re-enacted toiay. There was a constant stream of visitors last night to the Abbey which was all ched at 11 o'clock and re-opened at 30 in the morning instead of 10 o'clock. owing to the crowds which had already gathered to pay their tribute of respect. Similarly, at the Centaph the people began to arrive in Whitehall at a very early hour in the morning, and there soon developed an immente queue. The great mound of wreaths and crowes at the fact i the Censtanh is steadily growing. A striking feature was a mass of flowers in small bunches deposited by humb! sorking-classes. The Duke of York in th afternoon unveiled the memorial outside th Royal Exchange to the London troops wh fell in the war.

FRANCE'S UNKNOWN WARRIOR.

Paris. November 11th.

A Havas message says:--Paristans are preparing with patristic nthusiasm for to-morrow's erlebration of be leant anniversary of the victory of 1919. and of the establishment of the Republican regime half a century ago. The streets are guily beflagged. Visitors are arriving from all over France, even abroad.

Puris. November Ilin Simultaneously with the correspond in London, all Paris assembled in the vicinity of the Arc de Tramphe to do honour with the group and ceremony to the heroes of france who fell in battlefield in the perch of the unknown soldier selected from their sands who gave up their lives in the defence

Coincident with the col-bration of Armis for Day. France milited the occasion to mn=emorate the fiftieth anniversary of the hird Republic in commetion with which the beart of Clarchetta, the patrick who incarnated the indom'table will of France after the disasters of 1870, was convered to its last resting place in the Pantheon. The procession was headed by a mass of slour formed by regimental flags. Repreentative of all branches of the army followed a tattered flag curried in the Battle of the Marne and a faded and ragged standard of 1870. Then a gilded ear bearing the heart of Gambetta was escorted by members of the Government, after which gun-carriage with a vivile coffin, containing the remains of the unknown soldier corresponded by a group of non-commissioned

On arrival at the Pantheon, M. Millerand, who was acceleranted by the entire Gabinet and the three Marshale of France. delivered a panegyrie, extolling the unknown, dead and con memorating the jubilee of the Republic. The cortege then moved to the Arc de Priotiphe, accompanied by the President members of the Government and military representatives. Those disabled in the war, Veterans of 1870, and, a delegation of bereaved women took their places at the head of the correge, which slowly filed along the thronged Champs of Elyme to the Arc.

where troops rendered last honours. The body of the unknown soldier will be subsequently buried beneath the Arc de Fromphe while the heart of Gambetta will w transferred to the Pantheon.

A Havas message says:-To-day's national celebration had as its object the double commemoration of the victory of 1915 and the establishment of the Republican regime fifty years ago. The ortisans of the victory, those thousands who nnknown were to be honoured the person of the unidentified French soldier and the artisans of the advent of the Republican regime and economic reconstruction of France were to be honoured in the person of the great patriot and statesman. Leon Gambetta. whose insuperable energy revivified France after the war of 1871. Thus, almost simultaneously the body of the unidentified French soldier arrived in Paris. The Arc de Triomphe, that unique monument to the first Napoleon and his soldiers, was eventu ally selected as the most befitting grave There, he will lie alone under the stupen done arch, beneath a plain slab inscribed with these simple words, " To the Soldier who won the final victory."

As to Gambetta, his heart only was prought to Paris. The Pantheon, that French Westminster, is to receive it. The Parisian population, ever patriotic and spirited deemed it an honour to colebrate in a belitting manner such memories. The public buildings, many private residences and offices were decorated with flags and bunting. Enormous crowds assembled from dawn At the Cenetaph ceremony this morning, and filled the streets, M. Millerand, surthe Dominions and the Colonies were repre- rounded by Cabinet Ministers, Field Marshale, Senators, and Deputies, awaited the procession on the steps of the Pantheon where an impressive coremony took place in the presence of French and foreign notabilities and many delegations: "

M. Millerand, in an eloquent speech, eulogized Gambeita, whose prudence and energy, he said, saved France in the dark. est dave of her history. M. Millerand then extelled the French army whose heroism and abnegation secured for France the victory. and achieved Gambetta's dream, namely, the re-conquest of Alsace-Lerraine. The procession then proceeded to the Are de Triomphe, where the cashets were laid amidst renewed manifestation of the respect gratitude and admiration of the whole population. The place was soon bestrewn

A similar celebration took place in all large provincial cities. Everywhere, the patriotic manifestation were arranged

BOLSHEVIK NOTE TO BRITAIN.

VIOLENT, ABUSIVE, AND PROVOCATIVE LANGUAGE.

LENGTHY TIRADE

LONDON, November 13. The Daily Telegraph states that the Government has received the Expected Bolshevist note which is a document of extraordinary length consisting of no less than 5,000 words couched in the most violent, abusive, and provocative language. It charges the British Government with doing its utmost to compromise the trade and peace negotiations and to favour aggressions against the Soviets in Persia and other countries.

ARMENIAN ARMISTICE

CONCESSIONS TO TURKS AND BOLSHEVIKS:

CONSTANTINOPLE, November 12. The Armenian Government reports the terms of the armistice conduded with the Turks and Bolsheviks as follows:-(1) The withdrawal of the Armenians to the west bank of the Arpachai, thus giving up the Zangazur and Karabagh district and opening up a corridor for Turkish and Bolshevik communications; (2) The Turks to occupy Alexandropolsk, including a ten kilometre radius pending peace negotiations; and (3) The Turks to be responsible for the maintenance of the order and security of the inkahitants.

REAL TOOTH DANGER GUMS. UNDER THE LIES

Under the grows is the important foundation—the bony root sockets which hold the teeth in place.

Healthy gums guard and preserve this foundation of your teeth. Soft, bleeding, tender or receding gums allow Pyorrhea infection to creep beneath them. If unchecked, the germs spread to the bony root sockets, weaken and destroy them.

Then your teeth become loose and eventually fall out, or must be extracted-because Fyorthea has eaten away their supporting foundation. You may have kept the visible surface of the teeth white and glistening by daily brushing-you may have had all cavities skilfully filled-but all that care has gone for naught because you neglected Jour gums.

Watch your gurns if you want to save your teeth.

Pyorrhocide Powder was compounded for the specific purpose of maintaining and restoring gum health. In addition to its ingredients which keep the teeth white and clean, it is medicated with Dentinol, a germicidal and healing agent widely used by the dettal profession in the treatment of Pyorrhea at the dentist's chair."

Prombocide Powder tones up the game, stimulates their blood circulation, maintains hardness and firmness, thereby increasing the" power to resist Pyorthora infection. Its effectiveness for this purpuse has been conclusively proved by thorough tests in clinics devoted exclusively to Pyorrhea study and research. That is why dentists everywhere recommend it.
